LAND GREW WITH EIGHT AMERICANS

GOVERNMENT SEEKS OFFICIAL WORD ON SINKING OF LYMAN M. LAW BY U-BOAT ON MONDAY.

HAD CARGO OF LUMBER

Agents in New York Report That Ship Carried Lumber For Use in Making Lemon Crates in Italy.

BULLETIN.

Washington, Feb. 14.—Consul Treadway at Rome called the state department that the American schooner Lyman M. Law, was not sunk by a torpedo, but that it was destroyed by a bomb placed aboard by the crew of a submarine.

WAS SUNK BY U-BOAT

Consul Treadway's report said that the submarine was evidently American, but that it flew no flag. Secretary Lansing has another report which says that the vessel was sunk by gunfire from a submarine.

Seek Official Information.

Washington, Feb. 14.—On basis of news dispatched by the state department, the official information of the destruction of the American schooner, Lyman M. Law, by a submarine, is being sought by the state department, to determine at once how the case affects the delicate situation between Germany and the United States.

Whether the ship was attacked without warning, whether she carried contraband, and whether any American lives were lost.

The United States considers the sinking of a ship carrying contraband a doubtful right, but in the case of the sailing ship, Wm. E. Ryan, and the steamer Housatonic, has not considered it a violation of international law to be compared to destruction which entails the loss of life.

Whether the destruction of the Law will turn out to be the "overt act" of the submarine campaign, will depend on the exact facts.

Had Cargo of Lumber.

New York, Feb. 14.—The Lyman M. Law carried a crew of nine men in addition to her captain and first mate, and was loaded with lumber and other goods used in Italy for manufacture of lemon crates, according to the schooner's agents here, the Maritime Transportation company.

Inquiry to Elkus.

Washington, Feb. 14.—Another inquiry was sent by the state department today to Ambassador Elkus at Constantinople, to develop why he had not been able to report about the schooner's sinking to the state department. It is expected that Elkus will be able to report about the schooner's sinking to the state department today.

The S. S. Frederik VIII.

CONGRESS DECLARES WILSON RE-ELECTED IN FORMAL CANVASS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS] Washington, Feb. 14.—President Wilson was formally and officially declared re-elected today by congress in joint session, as provided by the constitution, to canvass the electoral vote of the states.

Count Refuses Interview.

Hoboken, N. J., Feb. 14.—The special train carrying Count von Bernstorff, former German ambassador to the United States, and his suite, arrived at the railroad terminal here at 6:58 a. m. The train was immediately surrounded by police and secret service men and no one was permitted to approach within 500 feet of the Count. Bernstorff and his suite remained in their staterooms about half an hour after the train stopped about two blocks from the dock of the Scandinavian-American steamship line, on which they will sail for Copenhagen at two o'clock.

Heavy Police Guards.

The route from the pier to the hotel was lined with police and detectives, about 150 inspectors from the neutrality squad and the collector of port were on duty at the pier. A New York police tax method its way up and down in front of the Scandinavian-American docks, and two smaller launches guarded the north and south ends of the pier. Col. J. M. Malone of the Port of New York with ten officials spent the night on the Frederik VIII, ready to receive the ambassador when he came on board.

Big Passenger List.

The Frederik VIII will carry 400 passengers in her first and second sections. The ship is expected to leave for Copenhagen at two o'clock. Among them is Baroness Zwiendek, wife of Baron Eric Zwiendek, who was designated charge d'affaires of the Austrian embassy after the dismissal of Ambassador von Dumba. Another passenger is Wolf von Igell, who was arrested in connection with the alleged plot to blow up the Washington monument. The ship is expected to arrive in Copenhagen at two o'clock.

After the count and his party boarded the ship, Col. Malone and his guard lined up behind the wooden fence at the street end of the pier and prevented persons other than passengers from passing.

New York, Feb. 14.—Acting on instructions from the state department a request was made to Federal Judge Hand here today by the state department to cancel the $20,000 bail bond of Wolf von Igell, under indictment charging him with participation in a plot to destroy the Washington monument. The request was granted, and the defendant will sail with von Bernstorff.

CARDS MUST FIGHT THEIR BEST TO WIN FROM OSWEGO TEAM

Easterners Come Here With Players Fit Physically for First Time in Month—Play Two Games.

Two hard games this week face the Cardinals, those on Friday and Saturday night against the Oswego, N. Y. five which has been meeting, and defeating, the best in basketball the east and central west here to offer this year. Handicapped through illness and injuries for the past ten days the tourists come here Friday night with their old team intact, their original lineup being the same as that which played previous to the game at Muscatine. The Oswego team was beaten, 19 to 18, at Muscatine, but with a crippled line-up. Rockford Saturday night, the military company team, minus the services of Fogarty and George Young, won from the easterners who were without the presence of three regulars.

Manager Caldwell this morning received word from the team's manager that all players are physically fit at present and that unless something unforeseen occurs, the Cardinals will leave Oswego at its best this week. The five plays a return date with Manager Daly's Rockford five tonight. It is expected that George Lewis of Madison will play in both games with the Cardinals. Plans are to place him opposite Jack Mitchell at forward. Edler and Mike Krupp will hold down the guards. Fadden is scheduled to start at center, but there is some indication that the fans will have the old hero Eddie Atwood back once more. This is not for certain, however, but as Eddie, together with Mike Fadden, have been entered as Cardinal players in the I. A. C. games next week it is expected that he will return to polish up on the Cardinal "style" in at least one and, if possible, both of the tussles with Oswego. Muscatine, since its 19 to 18 victory over Oswego, now lays claim to the championship of the United States of America, or something like that. Maurice Patton of Dubuque college, Cardinal leader early this season, and the "one kid" in the eyes of Janesville fans, in a letter today scoffs at Muscatine heralding itself as the center of the country's basketball honors and claims that the Cardinals, as they now stand, could lace the tar out of the townies on a neutral court with at least ten points on Muscatine's own floor.

Manager Caldwell is desirous of playing a series of games with Muscatine, but thus far it has been impossible to reach a definite understanding. Janesville fans who have learned of the reputation of the Mississippi river town five, are pulling strong for the championship games.

GETTS AND BYRNE TO RACE AT RINK

Well Known Roller Speedboys Clash Tonight—Navock, Kober and Gillespie Are Matched Also.

Byrne and Al. Getts, two roller speed boys well known locally, will hook up in a special match race at the rink tonight. It has been a couple of years since the pair have been pitted against each other. Byrne at present has been showing some clever work and is backing himself strong to even up scores of years past. Byrne holds the Janesville title and is going to balance it against all comers. He expresses a confidence of being able to repeat his previous victory over Getts.

Aside from the Byrne-Getts match there is also one scheduled between "Shrimp" Navock, Billy Kober and "Doc" Gillespie. All three are well known for their speeding ability and a fast and interesting race is looked for.

PURDUE TIGHTENS FIRST PLACE GRASP

Defeat Maroons, 16 to 13.—Chicago Defense Solved in Second Half. BIG NINE STANDING.

Iowa	1	5	.167
Ohio	0	5	.000

Purdue forged ahead of Minnesota again in the big nine championship race last night by defeating Chicago, 16 to 13, in a fiercely contested game. The Boilermakers found the Maroons tough opponents all through the contest. Close guarding by both teams featured the play.

At the end of the first period Chicago led, 5 to 3, having made all their points on free throws. Purdue started aggressively and soon took the lead in the second half. Williamson starred, scoring three goals in rapid succession.

Chick tossed a sensational basket from past the center of the floor. Smith who generally leads in Purdue's scoring, was guarded so closely he failed to register a goal. Chicago only scored three baskets in the entire game, two being by Clark in the closing minutes, when the Maroons made a desperate attempt to cut down Purdue's lead. Chicago played a great defensive game, but was unable to take the offensive.

Chicago (13): Williams, Bondy, Clark, Markley, Gorgas, Smith, Rathenel, Hart, Townley. Baskets—Williamson, 4; Markley, Church, Parker, Clark, 2. Free throws—Smith, 4 of 7; Gorgas, 2 of 5; Townley, 5 of 7.

NEW OUTLAW CIRCUIT VISIONS BEING SEEN

Fear that a brand new "outlaw league" to replace the lost Federal circuit may be the outgrowth of the threatened strike by the baseball players' Fraternity, and that it might even involve the placing of David L. Fultz at its head, was expressed today by the numerous baseball followers whose sympathies in previous "war" days were with organized baseball.

There are allied with the Fraternity enough high class ball players, both major and minor, to organize a league which would discount in strength the late lamented child of James A. Gilmore. Also, it has been pointed out that the preponderance of good baseball players there naturally would be a preponderance of good baseball in such a league should it be formed. And, as fandom is bound to go where it can see the best baseball, organized baseball would have a scrap of some proportions on its hands.

The influence of those players who might entertain for the plans for organization of such a circuit probably would be such that many other players would separate themselves from their present employers at the expiration of their contracts and would ally with the new league. It is hardly probable that any contracts would be broken, for Fultz already has said those players who have contracts can best serve the Fraternity through allegiance to their clubs.

There would not be nearly so much expense attached to the organization of such a circuit as in the days of the Federal's infancy. There would be few baseball parks to build, for there are now standing the left-over parks from the Gilmore circuit. In addition the players would probably sign for much smaller salaries.

WEATHER FORECAST.

Partly cloudy and warmer tonight.
Thursday unsettled with probably snow.

THE SURVEY.

The school board has ordered a survey of the city schools. Now perhaps some definite action can be obtained. There is no reason why Janesville should not keep pace with the other cities of the state and that its schools be housed in up-to-date structures with all the sanitary conditions that are absolutely necessary to good work on the part of the pupils.

It will be weeks, yes months, before this report will be ready for consideration by the school board and the citizens, but it is most satisfactory to know the work will soon start. Meanwhile the students must do the best they can in the crowded conditions that exist in the majority of the schools and await developments.

Just what the survey will show is a problem. It may suggest construction of new buildings, reconstruction of others and the building of a new and modern high school, taking the present structure for grade school work, or a junior high school as it were. It may recommend a change in the lines of study and suggest that present teaching methods be changed to give better results.

Whatever is recommended, it is certain will be for the best interests of the community and will look well into the future, building for future generations as well as to meet present conditions. The results where surveys have been held prove that efficiency in being out of the cities progressive enough to undertake the work.

PREPAREDNESS.

Congress may debate for hours, pass millions in appropriations for this or that means of preparing this nation for war, but in all that is being said and done about preparing the country to meet any possible contingency, the railroads are neglected. It will mean that those who profess to favor a rational program of preparation are either insincere or incredibly stupid.

Granted that the war may be over before the United States could move troops to any living line, the fact remains that if the country is drawn into hostilities on any basis, it will be critically dependent upon its transportation facilities.

To grant credit to the allies would mean to increase our exports on their behalf, not only of actual war munitions, but of foodstuffs, and a great variety of raw materials. To enter into an international partnership to clean up central Europe would mean the same thing. Merely to speed up naval construction and to put the navy into shape for action, would mean an additional strain upon our already overtaxed railroads.

For the present emergency, it is too late to think of expanding track or yard capacity, while enough equipment is already under order to keep the manufacturers of cars and locomotives busy until well on in 1918. A great deal could be accomplished within the next sixty days to relieve the railroads of restrictions which cripple operation, and of expenditures which serve only to waste revenues. There is nothing, for instance, to prevent the legislatures of a dozen states repealing their worst tax laws on railroads. Already business organizations in New Jersey have taken the question up, realizing, after two years of experience, that such enactments contribute nothing to safety or efficiency in operation, while they force the payment of enormous sums annually for idle men whose labor is sorely needed in useful occupations.

Leaders of the railroad brotherhoods and of other labor unions have, within a few days, expressed the most praiseworthy sentiments of loyalty as American citizens. It is not too early to begin translating the feeling into action, least of all in a matter which calls for no sacrifice of legitimate interest, and is quite as essential in preparation for peace at home as for war abroad. Nobody needs to be told what a loud wailing has been heard from the minds of all railroad managers, or what an obstacle removed from the path of sound and adequate railroad financing by a genuine settlement of the railroad labor problem.

No decision on the Adairson law can come until the supreme court sits in March. But congress is not bound to wait for that before it sets to work in earnest at removing the possibility of a national disaster, such as the country so narrowly escaped last summer. Passing appropriation bills is not all that is necessary to make the national defenses ready.

THE DITCH DIGGER.
In spite of it can be said about the honorable quality of all labor, many people have always regarded those who dig ditches and perform other unskilled labor, with some contempt. Of recent years this work has been largely done by non-English speaking aliens. It was not so many years ago that this type of labor could be commonly had for about $1.50 a day.

Recent years have placed the ditch digger in a more elevated position. The wages in many places have doubled. The war has made raw labor scarce. The man with energy and muscle enough to handle pick and shovel is not so common as he was. Our native Americans do not like manual labor, though they may be earning less money somewhere at clean-handed jobs.

The new literary test law promises to make the ditch digger scarce. Of course the man who has energy enough to leave friends and earn passage money may have the grit to try himself to pass our new requirements. But the new standard must have some tendency to reduce the supply of raw labor.

Wherefore it be hooves us to feel a little more respect for the ditch digger. He performs the useful and toil-some task which the rest of us are unable or not unwilling to undertake. He is in a position to get a higher price for this disagreeable service, and he will make farm, highway, and construction work cost more.

It seems incongruous to many people that clerymen and teachers, who have spent good money going through the schools, must often earn less than the unskilled laborer who never took the least pains to educate himself. Possibly machinery may yet be devised to fill the gap caused by scarcity of unskilled labor. Machines are being tried in France, why not machine also to dig our sewers? But until this substitution can be made, we must all pay the penalty of the general inability or unwillingness to work with our hands and delve in the dirt.

THE WAR SCARE.

Several people were heard to remark about the war scare: "I don't care. I shouldn't make any difference to me, I should worry." It was easy to see that that person's loyal support of his country would depend very much on his pay envelope. If patriotism required any personal risk or sacrifice, there would be nothing doing.

One reason for the lack of success the English have had in this war has been the low state of patriotic feeling. Many English people were interested only as it affected money-making. They would not make sacrifices, and cared little whether their nation suffered disaster or not. Whoever ruled the country they expected to go along about the same.

In the old days a nation where that spirit prevailed did not live long. Its warlike neighbors soon discovered that it was morally weak. History shows that when that patriotic ideal, that love of country, becomes dead or decadent, the nation is soon overrun by stronger alien forces.

The United States is so wealthy, it is surrounded by a 3,000 mile bulwark of salty seas, that it will perhaps escape the perils that have overwhelmed many former states. We may be able to defy the laws of national decadence. But it is not merely a question of going to war. The soul of a nation may be ruined in peace by absorption in sordid money-making.

Patriotic organizations have long realized the need of this loyal feeling. But it can't be created merely by flag salutes. Boys and girls should be made to feel the romance and heroism of American life. The great characters of our history, their endurance, and sacrifices should be constantly kept before them. Perhaps in these ways, American youth can be made to see that America stands for, and to feel that the heritage handed down to us is one that must be maintained at all costs.

Intense indignation is felt by the people against the distribution of pork, and intense enthusiasm in behalf of the politicians who spend all their time distributing it.

Still great indignation will be felt if the business of handling war supplies should go to engineers, experts, scientists, and soldiers, instead of to faithful political friends.

When the farmers announce a meeting to discuss community uplift, it usually means that they are going to bid higher prices for milk and vegetables.

The Daily Novelette

AT HORSEWON.

A thought may be a little thing.
And from it great inventions spring.

Wildo Grenthit, the great Swedish geomorphician, sat in the dining room of his home at Horsewon, trying for the first time to eat spaghetti. It was in May, 1880, and Grenthit's great work, "Angles and Things," was already in its seventh edition. "Svengrom blug!" (gosh hang it), he exclaimed, "I can't eat this stoner-ker miserable stuff!"

And he desperately wound another foot of it around his fork and raised it rapidly in the direction of his mouth. But with lightning speed he uncurled and, smiling him on the left cheek, twined lovingly in his whiskers.

"Dungros worgel!" (well I'll be darned) he cried angrily, and, being a man of uncommon tenacity of purpose, he made one more attempt. He wound two and a half feet on his fork as tight as he could get it, and for the eleventh time tried to get it to his mouth. And for the eleventh time it uncurled viciously, slapping him julily in the right eye.

"Sintsoo yurri!" (the heck with it), he shouted, and hurried out and, out of the dining room window. But even before it had alighted on the lawn, to sprout and later develop into a lovely spaghetti bush. Wildo Grenthit had conceived his great idea. Rushing up into his laboratory, he took a yard of wire and made the first watch spring.

COMMEMORATE BLOWING UP BATTLESHIP MAINE

Washington, Feb. 14.—Memories of the blowing up of the battleship Maine in Havana harbor and the wave of patriotic sentiment that swept the United States from Florida to the Pacific, will be recalled here tonight, when the Naval and Military Order of the Spanish War, assembled at the Army and Navy Club at its annual dinner, commemorates the anniversary of the event. The banquet will be somewhat lacking in its usual brilliancy owing to the recent death of Admiral Dewey.

UP-STATE MEMBER FATHERS SETTLERS' RECLAMATION ACT

Madison, Feb. 14.—A bill known as the settlers' reclamation act, was introduced in the assembly today, by Assemblyman A. M. Rogers, of New ald, which will undoubtedly attract wide attention, especially in upper Wisconsin. Mr. Rogers, who represents Florence, Forest and Oneida counties, believes that the only way to settle upper Wisconsin is by helping the settler, and the way to help the settler is to finance him in clearing his land, and thus make it clear to pay dividends at once.

The Rogers' bill creates in the department of agriculture a settlers' reclamation department, and provides for a reclamation commission to be appointed by the governor, for a term of four years. This department shall jointly be in charge of the secretary of agriculture and reclamation commissioner. These commissioners shall co-operate with the counties in reclaiming wild and unproductive land, and in each of the reclamation fund in each county.

The counties are empowered by appropriations, tax levy or sale of special improvement bonds, subject to the constitutional limit on indebtedness, to create a county settlers' reclamation fund, and deposit the same with the state treasurer, to be loaned on proper security, to settlers in said county, for reclaiming land, removal of stumps, brush, fallen timber, and other obstructions. The treasurer shall place such money, to the credit of the county, to be loaned under supervision of the settlers' reclamation department, and paid out on requisition of the county agricultural commissioner, and a reclamation commission, bonds issued by counties under the act, shall constitute a general county liability non-taxable and annual interest not to exceed one per cent, at the state treasurer's office in Madison, at such time as the county board shall determine, but within not less than five nor more than twenty years.

The bill further provides that each county board coming under the act, shall at the spring meeting of the board, appoint a county agricultural representative. Any person who is the owner or has under contract, forty or more of good cut-over stump land, desiring to farm and cultivate the same, may make application to the county agricultural representative to have five acres of such land cleared, stumped, brushed, blasted and otherwise improved and ready for plow, each year, for a period of three years. Application shall be signed by the owner, mortgagee and others interested in the land, and the filing and recording of such applications shall constitute a notice of incumbrance to all subsequent purchasers.

The county agricultural agent shall fully investigate the applications and if the land is good agricultural land which may be reclaimed at a cost not to exceed forty dollars per acre, shall forward applications with findings and recommendations to the settlers' reclamation department, which shall make further investigations, and if their report is favorable, the county agricultural commissioner, they may approve said applications and proceed to enter into agreements and contracts to reclaim the land.

Not to exceed forty dollars per acre, shall be paid out of the reclamation fund of any county, for the clearing of any place of land. Any payments made for reclamation shall be repaid by the settler in five equal installments, with four per cent interest.

The state reclamation department shall certify to the secretary of state, before October 1st, each year, the exact amount spent on each description of land in each county, and the secretary of state before November 1st, shall certify to the county clerk, the amount due each county, for reclamation work, on each description of land, and the county clerk shall in turn, certify the amounts to the town clerk, where the said lands are located, such amounts to be placed on the tax rolls and collected as other taxes are collected. All such moneys are to be again repaid by the settler in five equal installments, with four per cent interest, to be credited to the settlers' reclamation fund of the particular county.

In case any applicant cultivates the five acres reclaimed in any year, the county agricultural representative, and the settlers' reclamation department, such applicant may make application to have an additional five acres reclaimed, but not more than fifteen acres shall be reclaimed for any applicant.

This gives you the opportunity to prove the remarkable merit of this medicine. They will also send you a book of valuable information, containing many of the thousands of grateful letters received from men and women who say they found Swamp-Root to be just the remedy needed in kidney, liver and bladder troubles. The value and success of Swamp-Root is so well known that our readers are advised to send for a sample size bottle. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. CANADA TO TRAIN AND EQUIP TWENTY FLYING SQUADRONS

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
New York, Feb. 14.—Twenty reserve aero squadrons will be organized, trained and equipped for the British Royal Flying Corps by the Canadian government this spring. The announcement was made today by the Aero Club of America at the Aero Club of Canada at Toronto. Hamilton Merritt is president.

The aviation training schools being established in Canada to train the aviators are under the control of the military department. The Canadian Board has charge of having constructed the three hundred and sixty training aeroplanes required. The British government is said to intend spending $80,000,000 in developing aeroplanes and aviators in the Dominion.

As in the case of the United States, the number of men anxious to join the Air Service and Army Air Corps is running thousands, and the training will begin on a large scale early in the spring. Candidates for the air service must be from 19 to 25.

The Aero Club of Canada at Toronto will assist in securing and training the aviators.

According to reliable reports from England, the British government has spent $250,000,000 for the air service in the last twelve months, in building up the Royal Flying Corps and the Royal Naval Air Service. There are about 12,000 aviators in the two services.

Henry Woodhouse, a member of the Board of Governors of the Aero Club of America, today said:

"The employment of aeroplanes in the present war is now general. Infantry, and artillery, reconnoitering, bombing, observing artillery fire, photographing the enemy's position, and the like.

There are aeroplanes which carry 3½ tons of bombs, guns and munitions. Some of these mount three-inch guns, which make them literally flying artillery. These aeroplanes are used to attack trains, ships and bodies of troops. Operations are being extended more and more, and there is no doubt that the war is to end in the air.

Other countries are also greatly expanding their air services, and many countries are looking towards the United States to supply the aeroplanes and motors—principally the latter.

They want large, high horsepower motors in large quantities. Fortunately, American aeroplane motors are now as good as the very best European motors and of seventeen different types of motors of 150 H. P. being developed in the United States today.

A number of these motors are being shown at the First Pan American Aeronautic Exposition, at the Hotel Palace from February 8th to 15th.

JANESVILLE BAKER OPPOSES POUND LOAF

A. J. Wilbur of Colvin Company and Other Wisconsin Bakers Argue Against Proposed Measure.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Feb. 14.—The bakers of the state did not disappoint the senate committee on public welfare. They came in strong today to oppose the Skogmo bill providing for a sixteen ounce loaf of bread, but permitting a fluctuation in price. The bakery and food department contended that such a law would save the people of the state one thousand dollars daily. The bakers claim that such a law would be impracticable and harmful to the people.

Fred K. Downing, superintendent of weights and measures, read statistics to the committee showing the variation of the size of the bread loaf in this state. He said the people of the state should know what they were getting. If the price of the loaf were fixed, he told the committee, competition would take care of the price. C. J. Kramer, state bakery inspector, favored the bill. He said the people would get more bread for less money. Miss Abby Mariatt of the university, claiming that one pound loaf of bread, the state, said that a standard loaf of bread would give greater value to the poor people.

August Schmidt, Milwaukee, representing the Master Bakers' association, said that the American housewife was giving competition to the baker at the present time, if he attempted to give her a small loaf of bread. He declared there was no justification for any such legislation. He said the baker had 128 state rules relating to sanitation that must be lived up to and that of irritable and irritable bread add an additional burden. A. J. Wilbur of Janesville said the bakeries were not making money, and read statistics showing failures during the past year. He said there would be demand for such legislation and there were no complaints against the present loaf. Bakers from other states, he declared, would compete with smaller loaves and could not be shut out. M. H. Carpenter of the Carpenter bakers association, announced the bill as "impracticable," "impossible," and a usurpation of legislative power. He said you might as well try to regulate the length of men's socks. Upwards of 200 bakers were present.

NOT YET READY FOR UNIVERSAL TRAINING

IDEAL MUST BE WORKED UP TO GRADUALLY GENERAL HOLWAY TELLS TWILIGHT CLUB.

SUPPORT YOUR MILITIA

Local Company, Guests at Meeting, Should Receive Backing of Citizens—Songs of Nations Enjoyed.

This country is not yet ready for universal military training, according to Adjutant General Orlando Holway, who gave an address Tuesday evening at the monthly meeting of the Twilight club at the Y. M. C. A. building.

"Although compulsory training may be the ideal way," said General Holway, "it will be necessary to work up to it. The nation is not yet equipped nor the men who are capable of training so large a body of raw recruits as would be called out each year under the proposed universal service act. None of the European nations that have developed large bodies of military trained citizens have developed their training plan in a year's time. It has taken them years of growth. The Prussian system started in the time of Napoleon, who refused to allow more than 30,000 Prussians under arms in any one year. They got over this apparent limitation by calling out 30,000 men every year until they had trained a large body of the citizens in arms."

General Holway explained briefly the old militia act and the new law providing for the federalization of the National Guard, called attention to the fact that when the 4,700 Wisconsin guardsmen at Camp Douglas were called upon to take the oath for United States service, last summer, not one refused. The same oath has been taken by the members of the Janesville company.

"The boys of your local company are the citizens of the United States and of Janesville," he declared. "Wisconsin has a right to be proud of her troops. General Holway said, in the estimation of their superior officers, from General Frederick Funston, in command of all the troops, down through the division and the command of the National Guard and General Richardson. They were well trained and well disciplined. They were ready and knew how to do any task that they might be called upon to perform."

General Holway laid stress on the importance of local and state pride, which is developed in a marked degree in the members of the National Guard. The spirit prevails, and was decidedly prevalent among the troops along the border, that this is my company, and I cannot get out of it. I must stay by my company and make their record clean."

"This same spirit carried to the state militia as a whole, and then to the United States militia, would make for an efficiency and a willingness to serve, which could not be equaled, General Holway declared.

Decided Patriotic Tone.

There was a decided patriotic tone to the meeting, and the program was unique in the history of the organization. Members of the Second Separate company, Wisconsin National Guard, were guests of the club, and their drill as a number of the program, lent a military color to the occasion.

The decorations of large and small American flags was another feature. W. S. Jeffris, leader of the evening, and to whom credit is due for its excellence and appropriateness, had a native born German and a native born Englishman, and that they did the work without an alteration of any kind.

The program of "Songs of the Nations," including the national hymns of England, Germany, France, Austria, Russia, Belgium, Japan, Scotland, Ireland, and the United States, was carried out in a most delightful manner by the members of the Men's chorus, and the soloists, E. Van Pool, Arthur Schoof, Rollo Dobson, Frank K. Doane, Stanley Horwood, Alfred Olson and R. Bearemore, with F. A. Albrecht accompanying.

The entire audience joined in the chorus of "Battle Hymn of the Republic," the opening number of the program, which was further indelibly stamped on the patriotic spirit prevailing. The audience also sang the chorus of "Battle Cry of Freedom," and joined in singing the last stanza of "America" to close the program.

Mr. Jeffris pointed out that probably in no other country at the present time could a program of this character be presented so well as here.

He felt sure that "God Save the King" could not be sung with any degree of composure in Germany, nor would it be safe to sing it in France or the "Marschall" in Austria. In neutral America, however, it is still possible to enjoy all of these gems of national music, and judging from the applause program met with hearty approval.

In addition to the selections by the men's chorus, there were several instrumental numbers, "Serenade," by Miss Phoebe McManis, fute, Rollo Dobson, violin. Bert Dixon, cello, which was most delightful, and another instrumental number, "Serenade," by Mr. Arthur Schoof, violinist. Mr. Arthur Schoof, cellist, and Miss Bennett at the piano, both of which were given with exquisite feeling.

Two vocal solos by Robert S. Daley, "Don't Bite the Hand That's Feeding You," and "Wake Up America," were given in Mr. Daley's best style and met with a storm of applause.

Local Company Drills.

Great interest was displayed in the ten minute drill by the Janesville militia company, under Captain Hans Jaekle. The company was received most cordially by the club with applause and cheers, and they were on the floor with the greatest of ease during the last few months, thanks to their own hard work and the pains-taking care of their officers.

Sergeant Wood, U. S. A., who was also a guest at the gathering last night.

Mr. Jeffris suggested that members of the Twilight club and citizens generally might display their interest in the success of the local company by attending occasionally the semi-weekly drills held at the armory on Tuesday and Friday evenings.

The enthusiastic encouragement and support of the company of which Janesville can well be proud. As the boys marched from the banquet hall at the close of the evening, a continuous and continuous and remarks of praise and commendation for their work and their fine appearance were heard on every side.

There was an unusually large attendance at the meeting, practically all of the club being present. The program was especially fine and was promptly and efficiently served by the corps of young ladies, who volunteered their services. The American flags decorated the tables, adding further to the patriotic touch. The tables were trimmed with red, white and blue crepe paper.

Several items of business were brought before the club. The leader was instructed to name a committee for ladies' night in April and a committee was also ordered appointed by the club to make arrangements for a meeting to meet with the Commercial club to consider more in detail the possibility of an amalgamation of the two organizations.

Y. M. C. A. CAMPAIGN STARTS WITH RUSH

Team No. 6, J. R. Wortendyke, Capt. $1123

At noon today the various teams engaged in the campaign to raise $10,000 with which to bring the Y. M. C. A. out of its indebtedness and to fund the operating expenses for the current year, had reported a total of nearly $5,500 as a start towards this sum.

Nearly forty men reported for duty this morning and began a systematic campaign of the city with the result that by noon they were able to report considerable progress.

The sympathy and energy of these friends of the Y. M. C. A. who are giving their time to soliciting funds will result in a most successful campaign, if the collections to date are any indication of what may be expected during the rest of the campaign.

Although some of the $5,500 had been pledged before the campaign opened the efforts of the workers have been so successful that a large number of subscriptions of various amounts.

That Janesville appreciates the value of the association and will come to its aid at this time, seems assured by the satisfactory returns of a half day's soliciting have encouraged the men to redoubled efforts, and the equality on which the five teams are now working will insure a great fight for the honor of securing the greatest amount at the end of the campaign.

URGES IMPORTANCE OF RED CROSS WORK

H. S. Lovejoy in Address to Twilight Club, Outlines Purposes of Red Cross Organization.

The aims and purposes of the American Red Cross, a chapter of which has lately been organized in Janesville, were outlined last evening by H. S. Lovejoy in an address to the Twilight club.

Lovejoy pointed out that American citizens had been slow to give their active support to the Red Cross organization, a comparatively new organization, which is now one of twenty-two persons was a member of the society and Germany where one out of sixty-seven was a member.

BELOIT BOY TAKES WIFE OF BROTHER

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Chicago, Feb. 14.—A green looking lad of eighteen stood before Judge Fisher in the morals court and admitted he had broken the tenth commandment.

His brother stood at one side of him, and at the other stood his brother's twenty-one year old wife, pretty, bright, and the mother of two lovely babies. The eighteen year old boy had stolen his brother's wife and run away with her.

James Cox is the husband. The brother is Glenn, and the wife is Ruth May Cox. They all live in Beloit, Wis.

"This is the second time you have run away with your husband's brother," Judge Fisher told the wife. "It's a terrible thing for a woman to leave two babies, even if she doesn't care for her husband."

The wife leaned heavily on the railing and then put her hands up to her cheeks. She did not speak.

Praises Her Husband.

"Your husband is doing what not one man in a thousand would do, of offering to take you back and watch over you," continued the judge.

The erring wife remained silent. "Will you go back home?"

Mrs. Cox hesitated and then said, faintly, "Yes."

"Do you like this brother so well? Do you love him?"

Mrs. Cox was silent. Her husband listened intently for an answer. He came there for a purpose and he was going to fulfill it.

Judge Fisher pictured Leavenworth prison for a young brother, and asked him if he knew the seriousness of his offense.

"I do, yes," was his answer.

When Judge Fisher mentioned the lad to one of his brothers, the brother's wife said to her: "Never mind, I'll see you when I get out in a year."

Oh, it wasn't all her fault," sobbed the wife. "It isn't right to say it was!"

Living in Brother's Home.

Glenn had been living in the home of his brother, who supported him, according to testimony given, and once before the pretty wife went to Milwaukee and he met her brother. He had letters they wrote to each other.

"I don't want to go back to Beloit," Mrs. Cox told the judge.

"Then," said the husband,

MONROE WOMEN URGE A POTATO BOYCOTT

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Monroe, Wis., Feb. 14.—Roused to indignation at the steady increase in the price of potatoes, the women of Monroe have decided to launch a potato boycott. The announcement that one farmer has 900 bushels of the tubers stored in his cellar and still refused to sell any at the prevailing price, a number of determined women announce that unless lower prices are quoted before the end of the present week, and there are indications of prices dropping to where they should be, they will launch a movement for the boycotting of potatoes.

Under the plans which have been discussed potatoes will be banished from tables on February 20 and none will be used for any purpose whatever for the remainder of the month. If this fails to break the high prices the "potato fast" will be continued until such a time as results are secured.

According to press reports, declared one woman today, "potatoes are selling at seventy-two cents per bushel in Germany—a fact demonstrated by terrible war conditions while in the greatest potato raising state in the Union we are paying four times this price. It is time the women of this country opened battle with trying pants and knives to vanquish the high cost of living."

WILL BE PERPETUATED

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Denver, Feb. 14.—Although the dashing figure of Buffalo Bill will never again dash into the ring, Buffalo Bill's "Wild Show" will live.

Incorporation papers of the company have been filed with the secretary of state of Wyoming by Mrs. W. F. Cody, the colonel's widow.

Mr. and Mrs. John Cody, Garlow and Johnny Baker, it was the last wish of the colonel that the famous Buffalo Bill Wild West Show be kept alive.

SEEMS INFORMATION ON REPORTED METEOR

Observation of an exceptionally brilliant meteor which was reported to have been seen on the night of February 5th, in spite of the bright moonlight, led to a number of foolish reports as to the nature of the object. Although there is no definite evidence that it reached the earth's surface in this section of the country, Edwin B. Frost, director of the Yerkes Observatory at University of Chicago, has asked that any information regarding the meteor be sent to him.

In so far as possible he desires correct reports as to the time, place, direction in which it moved, estimated height in degrees, period of visibility, brightness, color, presence of a "tail," and also asks if there was any sound heard, and if a jar was felt.

MYERS THEATRE.

Enchanting is one of the words to qualify "A Daughter of the Gods," William Fox's $1,000,000 film spectacle, the attraction booked at Myers theatre for three days beginning Monday, Feb. 19.

Massive in its magnificence, luxurious in its wealth of investiture and costuming, this spectacle is the last word in motion picture classics. As fast as the eye is fed with the kaleidoscopic changes of locale and incident the spectator's brain reels with enthusiastic admiration and childish wonder," says one critic describing the story, which is filled with heart throbs, human emotions and nerve testing conditions, all harmonized in an enduring spell of beauty.

"So far as feminine physical perfection is concerned," comments Mary Edith Butler, author of "The Rose Behind the Wall," "Annette in very truth is a daughter of the gods, so perfect in flesh and blood composition, so instinctively graceful, that she floats like the specter of a dream of the Greek masters."

"The scenes in which she takes part, dream-stuff and golden poetry, one must carry over after for meditation, for the subject of motion pictures is suggested."

Fantastic is the story, at times to the point of real childhood belief, and yet it entrances and holds the spectator with its sheer realism.

MYERS THEATRE.

The Messrs. Shubert will offer at the Myers Theatre, tomorrow night, the New York Casino success "The Blue Paradise" an operetta that ran on Broadway for over a year. This is the latest of the musical plays to have come from the Austrian capital. It was Americanized by Edgar Smith, who perhaps writes more interesting books than any other of our American librettists. "The Blue Paradise" is divided into a prologue and two acts, a space of twenty-four years is supposed to have elapsed between the two. In the prologue Rudolph Stoeber, a young man of Vienna, is sent away to America to make his fortune. He returns home and to the scenes of his youth after all these years abroad only to find that everything even to his boon companions of other days have changed. When he finds that his former sweetheart, whom he expects to find waiting for him, is the wife of another, he, in true Chicago fashion, decides to marry the widow of his former American partner, and all ends happily, as it should in musical comedy.

I was in a very nervous condition with headaches and pain a good deal of the time so I was unfit to do my work. A friend asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which I did, and it has helped me in every way. I am not nearly so nervous, no headache or pain. I must say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the best remedy any sick woman can take."—Mrs. MARGARET QUINN, Rear 259 Worthen St., Lowell, Mass.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action, yet always effective. They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

You will know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets by their olive color. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

In every home Sloan's Liniment has earned its place in the medicine chest as a relief from pains and aches.

Quickly penetrates without rubbing and soothes the soreness.

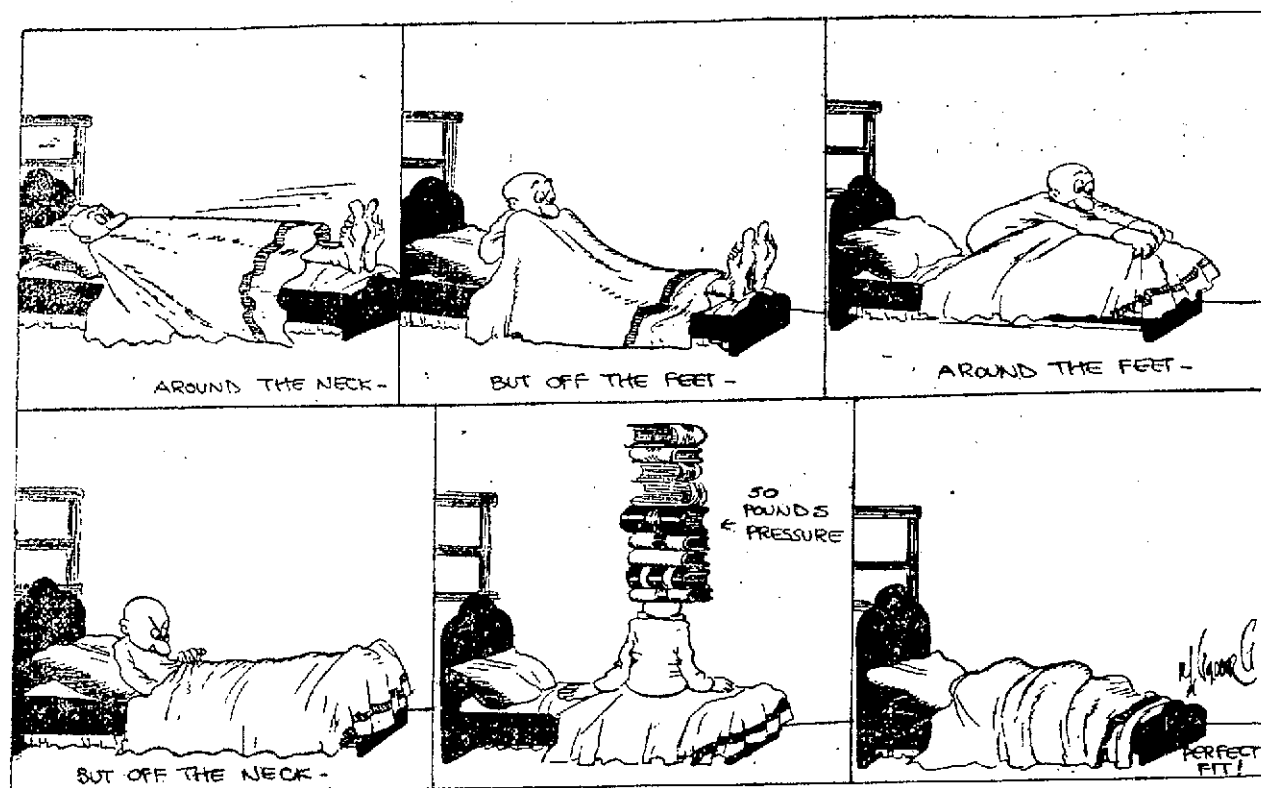

Cleaner and more effective than mussy plasters or ointments, it does not stain the skin.

For rheumatism, neuralgia, gout, lumbago, sprains and strains use Sloan's Liniment. At all druggists, 25c, 50c, $1.00.

A SHORT STORY OF A SHORT BLANKET.

Nan of Music Mountain

By FRANK H. SPEARMAN
Author of "WHISPERING SMITH"

(Copyright by Charles Scribner's Sons)

"Right you are, Farrell," assented Lefever. "But—"

"Second verse, John. You're boss here; what are we going to do? That's all we want to know."

"Henry's orders were to wait here till ten o'clock this morning. There's been firing inside twice since twelve o'clock last night. He told me to pay no attention to that. But if the whole place hadn't been under water all night, I'd have gone in, anyway. This last time it was two high-powered guns, picking at long range and, if I'm any judge of rifles and the men probably behind them, someone must have got hurt. It's all a guess—but I'm going in there, possibly if I can, to look for Henry de Spain; if we are fired on—we've got to fight for it. And if there's any talking to be done."

"You can do it," grunted Elpaso.

"Thank you, Frank. And I will do it. I need not say that Kennedy will ride ahead with me. Elpaso and Wickwire with Tommie Meggeson."

Leaving Scott in the trees, the little party trotted smartly up the road, picking their way through the pools and across the brawling streams that tore over the trail toward Duke Morgan's place. The condition of the trail broke their formation continually and Lefever, in the circumstances, was not sorry. His only anxiety was to keep Elpaso from riding ahead far enough to embroil them in a quarrel before he himself should come up.

Half-way to Duke's house they found a small bridge had gone out. It cut off the direct road, and, at Elpaso's suggestion, they crossed over to follow the ridge up the valley. Swimming their horses through the backwater that covered the depression to the south, they gained the elevation and proceeded, unmolested, on their way. As they approached Sassoon's place, Elpaso, riding ahead, drew up his horse and sat a moment studying the trail and casting an occasional glance in the direction of the ranch-house, which lay under the brow of a hill ahead.

When Lefever rode up to him, he saw the story that Elpaso was reading in the roadway. It told of a man shot in his tracks as he was running toward the house—and in the judgment of these men, fatally shot—for while his companion spread like a fan in front of him, Lefever got off his horse and, banding intently over the sudden page torn out of a man's life, recast the scene that had taken place, where he stood, half an hour earlier. Some little time Lefever spent patiently deciphering the story printed in the rutted road, and marked by a wide crimson splash in the middle of it. He rose from his study at length and followed back the trail of the running feet that had been stricken at the pool. He stooped in front of a fragment of rock jutting up beside the road, studied it a while and, looking about, picked up a number of empty cartridge-shells, examined them, and tossed them away. Then he straightened up and looked searchingly across the gap. Only the great, silent face of El Captain confronted him. It told no tales.

"If this was Henry de Spain," muttered Elpaso, when Lefever rejoined his companions, "he won't care whether you join him now, or at ten o'clock, or never."

"That is not Henry," asserted Lefever with his usual cheer. "Not with forty rows of apple trees. It's not Henry's gun, not Henry's heels, not Henry's hair, and thereby, not Henry's head that was not that time. But it was to a finish—and blamed if at first it didn't scare me. I thought it might be Henry. Hang it, get down and see for yourselves, boys."

Elpaso answered his invitation with an inquiry: "Who was this fellow fighting with?"

"That also, is a question. Certainly not with Henry de Spain, because the other fellow, I think, was using soft-nosed bullets. No white man does that, much less De Spain."

"Unless he used another rifle," suggested Kennedy.

"Tell me how they could get his own rifle away from him if he could fire a gun at all. I don't put Henry quite as high with a rifle as with a revolver—if you want to split hairs—mind, I say, if you want to split hairs. But no man that's ever seen him handle either would want to try to take any kind of a gun from him. Whoever it was," Lefever got up into his saddle again.

"I threw some ounces of lead into that piece of rock back there, though I don't understand how anyone could see a man lying behind it."

"Anyway, whoever was hit here has been carried down the road. We'll try Sassoon's ranch-house if they don't fire on us before we get there."

In the sunshine a man in shirt sleeves, leaning against the jamb, stood in the open doorway of Sassoon's shack, watching the invaders as they rode around the hill and gingerly approached. Lefever recognized Satt Morgan. He flung a greeting to him from the saddle.

Satt answered in kind, but he eyed the horsemen with reserve when they drew up, and he seemed to Lefever altogether less responsive than usual. John sparred with him for information and Satterlee gave back nothing but words.

"Can't tell us anything about De Spain, eh?" echoed Lefever at length.

"All right, Satt, we'll find somebody that can. Is there a bridge over to Duke's on this trail?"

Satt's nose wrinkled in his normal smile. "There's a bridge—"

The report of three shots fired in the distance, seemingly from the mouth of the gap, interrupted him. He paused in his utterance. There were no further shots, and he resumed: "There is a bridge that way, yes, but it was washed out last night. They're blocked. Duke and Gale are over there. They're pretty sore on your man De Spain. You'd better keep away from 'em this morning unless you're looking for trouble."

Lefever, having all needed information from Scott's signal, raised his hand quickly. "Not at all," he exclaimed, leaning forward to emphasize his words and adding the full orbit of his eye to his sincerity of manner. "Not at all, Satt. This is all friendly, all friendly. But," he coughed slightly, as if in apology, "if Henry shouldn't turn up O. K., we'll—ahem—be back."

None of his companions needed to be told how to get prudently away. At a nod from Lefever Tommie Meggeson, Elpaso and Wickwire wheeled their horses, rode rapidly back to the turn near the hill and, facing about, halted, with their rifles across their arms. Lefever and Kennedy followed leisurely, and the party withdrew leaving Satterlee, unmoved, in the sunny doorway. Once out of sight, Lefever led the way rapidly down the gap to the rendezvous.

Of all the confused impressions that crowded Nan's memory after the wild night on Music Mountain, the most vivid was that of a noticeably fat man, stepping and not ungraceful fat man, advancing, hat in hand, to greet her as she stood with De Spain, weary and bedraggled in the aspen grove.

A smile flamed from her eyes when, turning at once, he rebuked De Spain with dignity for not introducing him to Nan, and while De Spain made apologies Lefever introduced himself.

"And is this," murmured Nan, looking at him quizzically, "really Mr. John Lefever whom I've heard so many stories about?"

She was conscious of his pleading eyes and even teeth as he smiled again. "If they have come from Mr. de Spain—I warn you," said John, "make them with all reserve."

"But they haven't all come from Mr. de Spain."

"If they come from any of my friends, discredit them in advance. You could believe what my enemies say," he ran on; then added ingenuously, "if I had any enemies!" To De Spain he talked very little. It seemed to take but few words to exchange the news. Lefever asked gingerly about the fight. He made no mention whatever of the crimson pool in the road near Sassoon's hut.

CHAPTER XXVI.

Puppets of Fate.

When Nan rode with De Spain into Sleepy Cat that morning, Lefever had already told their story to Jeffries over the telephone from Calabasas, and Mrs. Jeffries had thrown open her house to receive Nan. Weary from exposure, confusion and hunger, Nan was only too grateful for a refuge.

On the evening of this second day De Spain was invited to join the family at supper. In the evening the Jeffrieses went down town.

De Spain was talking with Nan in the living room when the telephone bell rang in the library.

De Spain took the call, and a man's voice answered his salutation. The where you are tonight for a few minutes' talk?" continued the man coolly. "Not unless you have something very important."

"What I have is more important to you than to me."

De Spain took an instant to decide. "All right," he said impatiently; "come along. Only—" he paused to let the word sink in, "—if this is a game you're springing."

"I'm springing no game," returned the man evenly.

"Come along, then. I'll tell you just how to get here. Do you hear?"

"I'm listening."

"Leave Main street at Rancherio street. Follow Rancherio north four blocks, turn west into Grant avenue. Mr. Jeffries' house is on the corner."

"I'll find it."

"Don't come any other way. If you do, you won't see me."

"I'm not afraid of you, Mr. de Spain, and I'll come as you say. There's only one thing I should like to ask. It would be as much as my life is worth to be seen talking to you. And there are other good reasons why I shouldn't like to have it known I had talked to you. Would you mind putting out the lights before I come up—I mean, in the front of the house and in the room where we talk?"

"Not in the least. I mean—I am always willing to take a chance against any other man's. But I warn you, come prepared to take care of yourself."

"If you will do as I ask, no harm will come to anyone."

De Spain heard the receiver hung up at the other end of the wire. He signaled the operator hastily and got hold of Bob Scott. To him he explained rapidly what had occurred, and what he wanted. "Get up to Grant and Rancherio. Bob, as quick as the Lord will let you. Come by the back streets. There's a high mulberry hedge at the southwest corner you can get behind. This chap may have been talking for somebody else. Anyway, look the man over when he passes under the arc light. If it is Sassoon or Gale Morgan, come into Jeffries' house by the rear door. Wait in the kitchen for my call from the living room, or a shot. I'll arrange for your getting in."

MORTGAGE WATER PLANT TO PURCHASE GAS WORKS

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Milwaukee, Feb. 14.—City Attorney Williams is preparing a bill to permit Milwaukee to mortgage its waterworks to purchase the Milwaukee Gas Light company's plant. Williams declares that the gas plant operated by the city would pay for itself.

genuine alligator skin?" she inquired. "Positive, madam," quoth the dealer. "I shot the alligator myself."

"It looks rather soiled," said the lady.

"That, madam, is where it struck the ground when it fell off the tree."

The busy man was getting decidedly bored by the alleged old soldier's reminiscences.

"This," said the alleged soldier, "was where the enemy was massed in front of us. Here," pointing to another place on a soiled pocket map, "is where our division was drawn up. We deployed in this direction, and our left wing was attacked by the enemy on this knoll. Just at this point I was wounded on the left shoulder, and a hundred yards further on I got my right arm shattered by a piece of our own shell—and—"

"Yes," interrupted the busy man, "but where did you get your brains blown out?"

For two weary hours the small boy had howled, and the other occupants of the crowded railway carriage were getting tired of it.

"Dear," moaned the young mother distractedly, "I really don't know what to do with the child."

A sudden gleam of hope shone in the eyes of the old bachelor opposite.

"Shall I open the window for you, madam?" he inquired politely.

GIVEN CHOICE OF HANGING OR SHOOTING, THIS MAN ELECTS TO BE SHOT

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Salt Lake City, Utah, Feb. 14.—Convicted of murder and given his choice of being hanged or shot to death, Orazio Rapole, Italian farm hand who killed his employer in a quarrel over a horse, elected to be shot and will die at the hands of a firing squad here Friday morning. He is to be shot to death by a firing squad at the Utah state penitentiary. Rapole killed

Amos B. Neff, ranchman, at the latter's home in East Mill Creek, June 26, 1916, using a shotgun.

Following the shooting Rapole fled across the hills and was captured at Park City. Following his conviction of first degree murder a motion for a new trial was entered by newly retained counsel on the contention that attorneys who defended Rapole were under the influence of intoxicants at the time of his trial. Judge Morson, after having the motion under advisement two weeks, overruled it and sentenced the convicted man to be executed.

A Supreme Court, Judge's Opinion on Compensation

SPEAKING before the Yale Law School in 1891, Justice Brewer of the United States Supreme Court, said:

"I am here to say to you in no spirit of obnoxious or unpleasant criticism of any tribunal or judge, that the demands of absolute and eternal justice forbid that any private property, legally acquired and legally held, should be spoliated or destroyed in the interests of public health, morals or welfare, without compensation"

It is conceded that the United States Supreme Court is composed of the ablest judicial minds of America, therefore we believe that Justice Brewer's opinion is a safe guide to follow in determining what is fair, right and just.

Surely what is fair for one is fair for all.

If one class or many classes are entitled to compensation when damaging legislation becomes law, are not all classes, equally within the law, entitled to protection under the principle of compensation?

When any ordinary business partnership is dissolved, the law requires a fair and equitable division of the assets. Inasmuch as the United States Government, our State Government and your Local Government are in a way, partners in the Brewing Industry, because they receive taxes and license fees (profits), should not just compensation be made if this partnership is annulled by an act of the voter?

Can one partner give up or abandon the business—destroy its value, its income producing power—without making a fair and honest settlement with the other partner?

The State compensates for diseased cattle destroyed by order of the State.

The City compensates for private property taken over for public use.

The Town, City or County compensates anyone who may be injured (deprived of his income-producing ability) on the public highway through neglect or carelessness of highway officials or employees.

Compensation prevails practically everywhere—with all individuals—with all industries, except one; that one exception is brewing and allied industries.

Why this discrimination?

Can you explain it?

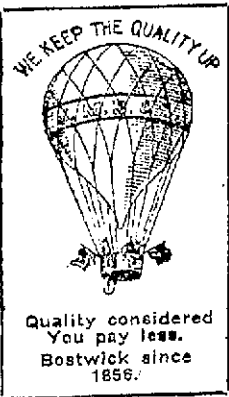

Should not the industries that pay the heaviest taxes have as much right under the law as those that pay the smallest taxes?

Property is property. Mine is as good as yours. The law that protects your property should give mine equal protection.
